Collins, 3 Execs Cited At Banquet; 'Cameron On Fire'

Rosser Outlines Tourist Impact

"Cameron is on fire . . . . ."

A new Chamber president said it Tuesday night after official introduction of three top officials of a new Cameron industry.

Albert Collins was named 1967 McCullin Award winner.

And Howard Rosser, tourist development director of East Texas Chamber, noted the community's zeal for growth in the main speech on the billion-dollar tourist industry in Texas.

Rosser was introduced by Rev. Jim Lafferty, Cameron C of C second vice president. First vice president Henry Litzman introduced a host of out of town industrial, chamber and utility officials from throughout Texas.

Gene Smitherman, incoming president, accepted the Chamber presidency in recounting building projects on two hospitals, industrial development, urban renewal planning, city planning commission, among others now underway in Cameron.

'CAMERON ON FIRE'

"Cameron is on fire," he emphasized. "Things we used to talk about doing over a cup of coffee we are doing."

John B. Henderson, Jr., outgoing president, set the same tone in describing the opening of a Cameron teen club, the location of Sunny Isle Manufacturing Co., of Dallas, the numerous Chamber projects ranging from farm tours to labor surveys attracting 1700 people.

Mrs. W. O. Triggs, the 1966 McCullin Civic Award winner, introduced Collins, a main fund raiser for Cameron Industrial Foundation, the United Fund and numerous community causes, and a leader in Cameron development throughout a lifetime in Cameron.

He is retired assistant Cameron postmaster.

"I hope I may have contributed something toward the growth of a town I have always dreamed of," he told the audience of 300 executives, wives and guests. And he introduced his wife, Mrs. Collins, "as his better half."

N. L. Caperton, president of Cameron Industrial Foundation, Inc., announced the imminent opening of a temporary location of Sunny Isle Manufacturing Co., of Dallas, employing 125 people. The number, he said, would double when a permanent plant is built.

SUNNY ISLE OFFICIALS

Introduced were: Jack Miller, Sunny Isle president, and former chairman of the Southwest Apparel Mart, Dallas; Bert Stockton, vice president and general production manager; and Clyde Hensley, sales and production mamager, Sunny Isle children's division, the Joni-J family of dresses.

Rosser dwelled on tourism's impact and on the impact of HemisFair '68 on the 71-county region, the East Texas Heritage Trail, of which Cameron is a host city, and the development of Winnsboro's "Autumn Trails" which each fall attracts tens of thousands. The regional chamber is sending out 107,000 copies of a 1968 tourism magazine and more than 600,000 maps of East Texas towns, scenic spots and highways.

Henderson led the Pledge of Allegiance prior to the invocation by Rev. Wirt Skinner. David Echols gave the benediction. Dinner music was by Mrs. Charlie Friemel and Mrs. Gordon Baskin.

McCULLIN WINNER — Albert Collins accepts the McCullin Civic Award from 1966 winner Mrs. W. O. Triggs at Cameron Chamber's 34th banquet Tuesday. Collins was cited for numerous community contributions including lifelong work in fund raising and recently key roles in the Cameron Industrial Foundation and Cameron United Fund.

MILANO SYSTEM LOWERS RATES BY 25 CENTS

The Milano Water System has lowered its minimum water rate by 25 cents a month to its customers, E. C. Westbrook, chairman of the board of directors has announced.

The reduction from $6.25 to $6 a month will go into effect with the March bill to the corporation's 152 customers.

The rate reduction was made possible by the water system's excellent earnings during 1967, Westbrook explained. At the annual meeting of the members of the corporation, held in the Milano High School cafeteria on January 29, he reported the corporation had an income of $14,753 and expenses of $12,001 during the year, including $7,441 interest on its loan. It has $5,047 in a reserve account and $1,978 in its operating account.

The Farmers Home Administration county supervisor, Henry Ivey, said the Milano water system was making excellent progress and he was pleased with its showing.

The 1967 board of directors was elected in January to serve a second one-year term. Beside chairman Westbrook, they include Clarence Hayman, Raymond Ashley, L. E. Love and J. D. Wilson.

One of the things making a city or region great, regardless of size, is a symphony orchestra.

It is a musical embodiment of culture.

The Central Texas Symphony Orchestra and two of the nation's fine pianists will contribute to that Cameron potential 8 p.m. Thursday at Cameron National Guard Armory.

It was one of those proud moments for me Sunday afternoon to see a Temple audience give a standing ovation to this fine young orchestra and these brilliant pianists.

It will be Cameron's opportunity Thursday to see these efforts, including two Cameron musicians, stir the lyric heart of the Milam County community and its county seat.

108-108-108

So many times it is said "this can't be or that can't be." But for Central Texas, this symphony is. After the Cameron concert, they and Adel and Louis Galanffy play in Killeen Sunday afternoon. Following this first series, the orchestra will begin rehearsals for three or four more concerts in Central Texas. Piano competition winners already have been announced.

After hearing the serious, melodic brilliance of the Galanffys' piano, I believe numerous, if not hundreds will join in seeing the value of serious music in small towns.

Those who would miss because they do not appreciate this kind of music would enjoy the sheer keyboard brilliance of the pianists and alert response of this young orchestra.

Those who have never seen a symphony would appreciate the complex of instruments not seen in marching band or Western band or rock band or dance band.

Those who have children whose cultural tastes are only forming would see their kids benefit from exposure to the finest music in the Western World.

Classical music knows no caste. The most enthusiastic supporters, and critics, of opera in Italy are working people. It is the Italian equivalent to our baseball. The net result is many operatic singers are Italian, their composers are Italian. This is one example of fine music's universal appeal.

Thursday's classics of Bach, Shumann, Kachaturian and Mozart also are the class of Western music. The young conductor, Bob Thomas, 34, and pianist Louis Galanfy, will be in white tie and tails, the orchestra in black tie or black dress. This is part of the tradition of fine music.

But the sound is the thing. And given a chance or proper hearing, it can waft an influence over a group of people that reaches some chord of appreciation seldom sounded.

Such accord, such response had a Temple audience standing at the concert's close Sunday afternoon. Won't you give the same welcome to so willing and so capable a presentation?

You can buy tickets from Evening Lions members or at the door.

Mrs. T. Barkley Dies; Was Civic Church Leader

Mrs. T. S. Barkley, 76, long active in social and civic work in Rockdale and Milam County, died in a Temple hospital at 11 p.m. Monday. She had been a patient since Friday for treatment of a heart condition.

Funeral services were at 2 p.m. Wednesday in St. John's Methodist Church, Rockdale, with Rev. Frank Cady and Rev. Robert Walker officiating. Burial was in the IOOF cemetery.

Mrs. Barkley was born July 18, 1891 in the Lilac Community, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Graves. The family moved to Rockdale in 1894. She married Dr. T. S. Barkley in 1913 at the Methodist Church in Rockdale. Dr. Barkley died February 18, 1965.

Mrs. Barkley held numerous Methodist Church and WSCS offices, both locally and in the conference. She had been honored with life memberships in the WSCS and in the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. She was also a member of social and study clubs in Rockdale and the Women's Auxiliary of the Milam County Medical Association.

Survivors are her daughter, Mrs. James E. Wilson of New Orleans; two granddaughters, Miss Judith Graves Wilson of New Orleans and Miss Elizabeth Barkley Wilson of Sweetbriar College, Virginia; and a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were: W. C. Marrs, W. P. Hogan, J. B. Newton, W. H. Cooke, Frank Skrivanek, Dr. John T. Richards, H. M. Luckey and Dr. C. G. Swift.

2 Trustee Races Draw Opponents

County interest in school board elections will be focused on South Milam next month with contested races in both Milano and Rockdale.

Three incumbents filed for election to the Cameron School Board, including Hilliard Thomas, who was appointed to the Board in December. Thomas filed for the unexpired term of Lane Horstmann. Coleman Duncum, board president, and Calvin Cobb filed for re-election.

Milano drew eight candidates for three places, including three incumbents.

Opposition appeared to spring from recent decisions concerning hair and dress lengths at the 300-student school and a board decision in January to extend the superintendent's contract to 1971.

Present board members are W. C. Westbrook, Jr., Arnold Kornegay, Ray Whited, J. C. Hayman, Joe C. Willingham, J. C. Barfield, and Stanley Betchan.

Willingham, Barfield and Betchan have filed for re-election.

Raymond Ashley, who resigned from the board last week, also filed.

Four other candidates on the ballot will be W. C. Davidson, A. W. Kornegay, Jr., Adolphus Hartley and Marvin W. Cotton.

A spokesman for the Board said that school enforcement of a rule that students "maintain reasonable dress and attire" has caused dissension among some school patrons.

The Rockdale school board election will also be contested with four candidates seeking three board seats. Emory Camp, Dr. Phillip Young, Dr. L. E. Selden and Mercer Cotton have filed.

Candidates for the Buckholts school trustee election are incumbents Doyle Arnold and Alvin Fuchs.

In Gause, J. B. Ely and John Todd have filed for the two school trustee vacancies.

In the County School Trustee election, Don G. Humble has filed for the trustee-at-large post and John Henderson Sr. is a candidate for re-election from Precinct 3.

Three incumbents announced for re-election to the Board of Trustees at Rogers. They are C. W. Gunter, present board president, D. D. Ward and Randolph R. Green.

School trustee elections will be held Saturday, April 6. Absentee balloting will open March 16.

The annual banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday at Methodist Fellowship Hall. Theme for the banquet and Girl Scout Week is Values to Hold—Worlds to Explore.

Posters made by local Scout troops, commemorating Girl Scout Week, are on display in downtown store windows.

DELPHIAN RECEPTION PLANNERS Mrs. Ladis Marek, Jr., and Mrs. Morris Eplen, are two of a Delphian Club committee planning a reception for Central Texas Symphony members and guest artists Adel and Louis Galanffy, noted piano duo, after their Thursday night concert here. Mrs. Leland Green Sr., president of the host Delphian Club, and Mrs. Carroll Green also are on the committee. Members of the Delphian Club will assist in serving guests and members.

Outdoors In Texas—

By Vern Sanford

Many people have the misconception that the only way to catch panfish—sunfish (perch), crappies, etc.—is with natural baits, like earthworms and crickets.

Normally bait of this type will catch the most panfish, but usually artificial lures will take larger ones.

Lake Marble Falls, located almost downtown in the community of Marble Falls in central Texas, holds an astronomical number of sunfish. But a fisherman using earthworms will more often than not, catch only a batch of little ones. These eager, speedy, small fish beat the bigger ones to the bait.

Next time out, try some of those tiny spinners, bugs and flies. They are more effective in taking the larger fish.

There are two facts to consider when after sunfish with artificials. Use a small bait and fish slowly. The smaller the artificial, the more effective it will be. And whether it is a surface or an underwater lure, retrieve as slowly as possible.

For fun at its best the sunfish should be taken on light tackle, something like a fly rod or an ultra-light spinning outfit.

Dick Brown, publisher of the Austin American - Statesman, likes to cast for so-called bream on Lake Austin, using a seven-foot fly rod that weighs less than three ounces. He says even a hand sized fish fights like a big one on this dainty tackle.

Topwater bugs or flies on a fly rod should be small. About a No. 10 bug is best. The smaller bug will tempt many more strikes than a large one. Any tiny fly is okay, with standard colors of black, yellow and white producing best.

Sound Planning Could Balance Urban - Rural America By 2000

COLLEGE STATION

With sound comprehensive planning, American communities could be less congested, be free from smog and pollution, and have better distribution of prosperity by the year 2000, says Reagan Brown Extension sociologist, Texas A&M University.

Brown said that space-starved cities and job-starved rural areas are not two isolated phenomena. They are twins. He said urban-rural America is out of balance. Roughly 7 out of every 10 persons now live on 1 percent of the land. The result is widespread urban overcrowding.

He pointed out that while the other 3 out of 10 persons living on 99 percent of the land have plenty of space, they have relatively little economic, social and cultural opportunity. "If present trends continue in the next 25 years, 100 million additional Americans will be piled up on top of the 140 million already in our cities and suburbs," he declared.

This would mean more social and economic ghettos—more urban sprawl on the edges of cities—more impatient traffic inching along more congested streets—more smog in the air and more filth in the water. It would also mean more devastation of the countryside and a further deterioration of rural America.

Curing urban ills can't be done by dismantling the cities, nor will a back-to-the-farm movement be possible or desirable. Americans must take better charge of their environment—they must be helped, inspired and well led.

Brown said creating a more reasonable and responsible national distribution of productive enterprises and utilization of manpower can be done only by intelligent, imaginative and painstaking rural planning at the local, regional and state level. Assistance as needed from the federal level is important.

Despite all that is wrong with the countryside, there is much that is right in rural America, he said. It has tremendous advantages: fresh air, clean water, space, peace and beauty in abundance—things the people of America yearn for. The Texas Community Improvement Program has proven in hundreds of Texas communities that people can find opportunity and happiness in the rural area.

Rural America has much to offer business and industry—electric power, excellent communications, splendid highways for transport. It has idle manpower, modest land costs, and a frank need for more jobs.

Add Color With Pendant Gardens Is Program For Civic Garden Club

Mrs. M. C. Duncum was hostess at her home when the Civic Garden Club met for a regular meeting last Thursday. A social hour preceded the scheduled order of business. Parfait was served in clay flower pots and each was centered with a gay flower held in place by a plastic straw. Fruit punch was served from a large flower pot and toasted nuts were acceppible by means of a shovel. The decorative unit for the table covered in red, was a potted geranium.

Mrs. J. A. Bowling, club president, was presented by Mrs. W. E. Falkner, program chairman, and gave an informative program on pendant gardens known as Hanging Baskets in which a variety of plants may be grown. Mrs. Bowling noted that this manner of growing plants had been popular in generations past and was again gaining prominence because of space consciousness, versatility, mobility and the reviving of sun parlors.

She suggested open wire mesh or reed for the baskets. To hold the soil, sheet moss, green side out, is preferred as a liner for the basket and should be soaked in advance. The lower half of the basket should also be lined with heavy duty aluminum foil. A specially prepared soil may be purchased.

In planting, if plants are desired to come through the wire then they must be planted through the holes but always giving an upright angle. Plants uprightand right angle. Plants upright and trailing give a pleasing result. After planting, immerse the entire basket in water to saturate. After growth is established, this should also be done again from time to time to insure sufficient moisture as the plants grown in this manner will be dependent on other than a natural water supply, generally. Also fertilize with a commercial mixture after one month of growth and then once weekly. Grooming, after considerable growth has been established, will make a more beautiful exhibit.

Plants suggested for use in hanging baskets are numerous and both trailing and upright varieties are preferred. Some names were the various ferns, coleus, begonias, jews, mums and others.

Mrs. Bowling presided at a short business session.

DOORS OF YOE

By Jane Callaway

First of all, many thanks for all the kind words. I appreciate each and every one.

Yoe High was well represented at the Texas Exes Banquet. The speaker was our own ex—Mike Perrin. Glen Fogle and Wayne Kirk were special guests because they are going to join Mike as stars of the T.U. football team. Better get all their autographs now!! One for the future was there—Bill Perrin. Miss Smith and Miss Green were there also.

Jekel, I hear you have an answer for me. I'm ready (report next week).

One act play try-outs were this week. These are going to bring back the blue ribbon—Al Hefft, Bette Whitley, Barbara Jo Hickman, Ralph Cannon, and Fritz Pratt.

Friday night was stay-awake night for a few sophomore girls. Brenda Watkins provided the place and fun for all of us to visit with Cathy Curtis who came back for the weekend. Hill and Steve—good to see you! I don't know why we call them slumber parties when they are SLUMBERLESS!! Miss Kosel, why didn't you come?

By the way Dennis, how's that itch? Thanks, Jane Burns—I would have missed this item!

We are proud of our Science Fair winners because the "midnight oil" was burning last week. It paid off in ribbons and medals for Tom Ivey, Will McIntosh, Jim Bowman, Glen Fogle, Danny Matula, Bobby Dorner, Bette Whitley, Will McIntosh (energy plus—entered two categories), John Posival, Jeanie McDaniels, Charles Maddox, Rheatte Leath, Patricia Stroup, Danny Monroe, James Nachlinger, Tom Ivey (you and Will had the same energy), Kay Rylander, Martin Mueck, Barbara Jo Hickman, Charles Riola, Harry Perrin, Marion Thomas, Kathryn Kahler, Beth Brock, Cynthia Krieg, John Ben Sutter, and Arthur Hanel.

Mike Miller, plug that hole before you put in the bees!! That was a giant flying around in our American History class.

Invitations were out Friday night from Pat Hollas. I hear the guests were around town on a scavenger hunt, and they had fun—so the party was a success. Two boys to every girl!! WOW!!

See ya' .....

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Kathy and Kevin celebrate St. Patrick's Day . . . Kathy wears her green plaid dress, and Kevin his sweater with the emerald stripe. The hats are those we brought home from last night's party!

They don't really know what the day is all about. But they heard Dan singing in the shower, "the wearin' o' the green," and saw the color of the tie he placed on the door knob.

They don't miss a thing! That old saying that actions speak louder than words is certainly true around our children. They are regular little copycats.

That's why Dan and I make it a habit to go to church every Sunday with them. We want God and His Church to be a real part of their lives, not just something they have heard about.

Give your children a chance to know God. Go to church and take them with you.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Modest Witness

Scene: a court of law.

Situation: a man is on trial for making an obscene telephone call to a young woman.

Problem: must the young woman, when she takes the witness stand, repeat—word for word—what she was told on the telephone?

It can be embarrassing indeed. As one judge put it, she might have to say words "that any refined girl would blush to repeat to her most intimate friends."

Yet, the problem of modesty cannot be avoided if justice is to be done. In a case of criminal assault, the woman may be asked to describe what happened. In a case of accidental injury, a woman may be asked to reveal a part of her body not ordinarily exposed to public view.

Generally speaking, the law tries to respect a woman's modesty—not as a matter of gallantry but as a matter of encouraging women to take the witness stand in the first place.

They will "testify with less reluctance," a court noted, "if relieved from the inhibitions imposed by the presence of a curiosity impelled audience."

How can the modest witness be protected? The most common method is to clear the courtroom while she is giving the embarrassing testimony. Another method, in case of bodily injury, is to have a doctor testify to the details—if necessary, with the aid of photographs.

A third possibility, when obscene language is involved, is to let the woman write the words down instead of speaking them out loud.

Unhappily, none of these methods is a perfect solution to the modesty problem. Clearing the courtroom raises questions of whether the accused person is getting the "public trial" guaranteed to him by the Constitution. Testimony by a doctor is useful in only a limited class of cases.

As for writing words down, that reduces the jury's ability to discern whether or not the witness is telling the truth.

Because of these conflicting considerations, the law has usually avoided laying down any hard-and-fast rules. Instead, the trial judge is given broad discretion. After all, he is in the best position to decide which procedure, under the particular circumstances, makes the most sense.

FEELING LOW?

Everybody has spells of "the lows" from time to time. Maybe your diet could be part of the problem.

First, see your physician. He's your best source of health wisdom. He may recommend a change in your eating habits, perhaps more exercise, maybe he will suggest vitamins to help you lift your nutritional level.

And when he does make his diagnosis--follow his advice. Bring us his prescription; we'll help you do the rest.

Be honest with yourself: When was the last time you had a check-up? After all, it's your health . . . and we know of nothing we care more about.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

WASHINGTON D.C. The following letters were recently answered by the Department of State.

VIETNAM DISCUSSION

I belong to a small group that meets twice a month at each other's houses to discuss various problems that concern us or that we feel concerned with and we try to apply ethics in attempting to solve them. As a group, we have decided to gather information to help us achieve an opinion of our own on the war in Vietnam, and of course, we would like nothing better than to be able to come out and back our Administration's policy.

Can you give me stiff arguments to defend our present policy in Vietnam or are we, as a country, deceiving ourselves and only getting into a worse position by following through on a bad course?

J.H.L.
East Paterson, N.J.

Dear Mrs. L.:

On February 1, 1955, the U.S. Senate passed the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty. That Treaty stated that aggression by means of armed attack as defined in the treaty would endanger our own peace and safety and, in that event, "we would act to meet the common danger." There is no question that an expanding armed attack by North Vietnam on South Vietnam has been under way in recent years; and six nations, with vital interests in the peace and security of the region, have joined South Vietnam in defense against that armed attack.

ment of the Treaty lies the lesson learned in the tragic half century since the First World War. We are involved in Vietnam because we know from painful experience that the minimum condition for order is that aggression must not be permitted to succeed. For when it does succeed, the consequence is not peace, it is the further expansion of aggression.

The enclosed material from the "Vietnam Information Notes" series may also be helpful to serve as background for your discussions

USSR TRADE AGENCY

The recent formation of a foreign commerce firm in the Soviet Union has just come to my attention. I believe this firm is called the Licensintorg and falls under the jurisdiction of the Ministry of Foreign Trade. I also understand that its purpose is to organize the sale and purchase, as well as the exchange of licenses and patents and technical information with other countries. Do you have any information on this organization that would be available to me?

D.T.H., III
Denver, Colo.

Dear Mr. H.:

Foreign trade is a state monoply in the USSR. At present, there are more than 20 state trading agencies which have day-to-day responsibilities for handling the USSR's foreign trade, most of these agencies deal in certain specified types of products, but some are responsible for the full range of trade with certain geographical areas.

Licensintorg, which was founded in 1962, is responsible for selling Soviet technology to foreign firms and for purchasing foreign technology which the Soviets wish to introduce into their economy. Private American companies have dealt with Licensintorg, both for the sale of technology to the USSR and for the purchase of Soviet technology, while the United States Government has not entered into any sort of commercial relationship with it.

For additional information, you might wish to contact the Amtorg Trading Corporation, a Soviet - owned company with offices at 355 Lexington Avenue, New York, N.Y.

VA Claims Require Family Documents

Family documents such as birth and marriage certificates should be kept where they can be readily found Jack Coker, manager of the VA Regional Office in Waco, advised veterans and their dependents today.

Coker said documents of this sort may be needed to support claims for veterans' benefits and for other purposes.

For veterans and their families, important documents include military discharges or separation papers, as well as death certificates, divorce decrees and guardianship or child custody evidence, he said.

WHERE DOES FOOD $ GO?

A big share goes to labor. Of the total cost of moving food from the farmer to the housewife, wage earners in the food industry get an estimated 50 percent.

IRS Questions And Answers

This column of questions and answers on Federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — I made a mistake in filling out the pre-addressed Form 1040 I got in the mail. What should I do?

A — The label on your form may be peeled off and put on another Form 1040. Use of this label will help avoid mistakes or delays in processing your return since it contains the information needed to identify your tax account.

Copies of tax forms are available at most banks and post offices as well as local offices of IRS.

Q — How does the retirement income credit work? Does it reduce your income or the tax you owe?

A — The retirement incom ecredit is a credit against your income tax. Taxpayers qualified to claim this credit can reduce their tax by up to 15 percent of their "retirement income." Use Schedule B, Form 1040, to claim this credit.

Further details on this credit are contained in the booklet, "Retirement Income and Credit," Document No. 5018. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Q — I am itemizing my deductions. Should I send in my expense records when I file?

A — No, do not send in records with the return. If your return is selected for audit, then you may be required to either send or bring them in.

Note that for some deductions or exclusions, schedules or supplementary forms must be filled in and attached to the Form 1040. Check your 1040 instructions carefully before you file.

Q — Does interest from a savings account have to be reported as income if it's under $10?

A — Yes, this interest income must be reported if you are required to file a return.

Q — How should I figure my deduction for state gas tax?

A — On page 9 of the 1040 instructions there is a table you can use. It is based on the state tax rate and the mileage driven.

Q — Are the dividends on GI life insurance taxable?

A — No, they are not. Dividends on other insurance policies are not taxable either when they represent a return of premiums paid.

Q — Can a single person use the head of household tax rates?

A — Yes, if he furnished over half the cost of maintaining a home for a dependent relative or his unmarried child, grandchild or stepchild. Details on this may be found on page 3 of the 1040 instructions.

Q — I was greatly over-withheld last year on my income tax. What can I do to reduce my withholding?

A — If you are presently claiming all of your exemptions for withholding purposes you may be able to claim additional allowances based on the size of your itemized deductions. This is explained in Schedule A (Form W-4) available at local IRS offices.

Q — If somebody has a job overseas, do they still have to pay U.S. income tax?

A — Income earned overseas is fully taxable for civilian or military employees of the U.S. Government. Those who work for a private concern overseas may be able to exclude all or part of their income from U.S. tax.

For details, send a post card to your District Director for a free copy of Publication No. 54, "Tax Guide for U.S. Citizens Abroad."

Q — Our daughter earned several hundred dollars last year babysitting. Does she report this income or do I since she is my dependent?

A — If your daughter earned $600 or more last year, she is required to file a tax return. You should not report her earnings on your return even though she is your dependent.

Q — Are Social Security benefits ever taxable?

A — No, they are not.

Q — Where can I buy a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax"?

A — Most local offices of IRS have copies or you can write the Supt. of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. The cost is 50 cents.

DAYS

Costly Dangers In Farm Chemicals

By J. D. Moore

One of these days the wet, cold weather will stop, fields and pastures will dry and outdoor activities will boom. 1968 will initiate the use of farm chemicals in great volumes. No doubt accidents will occur and misuse of chemicals is likely, unless great care is exercised and the manufacturer's directions followed closely.

Before using farm chemicals, the fine print on the chemical container should be carefully read and understood; instructions should be followed to the letter. A trade name is not a reliable identification of contents of a container, because contents may be modified from year to year with a change in the name of the product.

There are two costly dangers in the use of some of the very beneficial chemicals. First is the damage to the present crop and secondly the residual or "carryover" of the chemical in the soil to the extent of damage to succeeding crops.

To avoid these two dangers and in addition to thoroughly understanding and following label instructions, farmers will use lower rates of most chemicals as preemerge applications to major crops.

Recommended use of chemicals for the control of grassy weeds in maize, most farmers will use Propazine (Milogard) at the rate of ½ pound per acre as a premerge in a 12-inch band. The cost may vary but this amount should run about $1.50 per acre. Grain sorghum is the major crop in Milam County and "careless" weeds are the most common weeds of this area. There should be no residual resulting from this practice and if the chemical is used directly behind the planter or following the planting, maximum weed control should be expected. Other chemicals will be recommended and used with success if company instructions are followed. For double row or broadcast planting, possibly ¾ to 1 pound of Treflan broadcast and incorporated is best.

WEED CONTROL IN COTTON

We had successful weed control demonstrations in cotton last year. Most farmers used ½ to 1 pound of Caperol per acre in a 12 to 14 inch band as a premerge with good weed and grass control. Here again, other chemicals are on the market for weed control in cotton.

WEED CONTROL IN CORN

For some reason we will have to be a little more selective in the use of chemicals in corn production. Atrazine at 1 pound per acre as a premerge could be used.

However, weeds in corn do not present the problem at harvest as in the case of maize.

IN COASTAL BERMUDA

A number of questions concerning grassbur control in common and coastal bermuda have come to the county agent in recent years. Two demonstrations will be set up with Clarence and Anton Hanel whose land is in the Hoyte community.

An acre of coastal Bermuda on each farm will be sprayed with Simazine in cooperation with Perry Edwards, Geigy Chemical representative. Possibly 2 pounds per acre in 20 gallons of water will be used. Company recommendations will be followed. A note of interest might be made here. Lower rates are used on sandy soils because of the usual absence of orfanic matter in these soils.

The Simazine application should be made prior to weed and grass emergence since this chemical has little or no foliar activity and must be absorbed by plant roots.

Welcome To Sunny Isle . . .

Cameron officially welcomes Sunny Isle Manufacturing Co., of Dallas, this week, after introduction of three top officials at the 34th Chamber banquet Tuesday.

About 125 people will be employed in the next few weeks to begin training and production for the Dallas - based firm. N. L. Caperton, Cameron Industrial Foundation president, said that number would double when a new plant is constructed.

Key to the firm's selection of Cameron for a plant site was the incredible labor survey in September, 1967, which attracted more than 1,700 women to Cameron just for a chance for an interview.

Officials of the firm themselves conducted the interviews after CIF and Chamber leaders staged one of the largest industrial personnel surveys in small - town Texas history. The officials by that mid-afternoon were incredulous at the throng of people still in line.

Another line, Cameron and Central Texas leaders, guests and their wives, applauded the announcement Tuesday night and introduction of corporate officers.

They were not dressed in Santa Claus suits, but the immediate effect of such payroll in Cameron, not just for new employees, not just for the business community, but the whole Milam area, will be considerable.

This move, in effect, balances the load agriculture carries in the Milam economy.

If you have time, figure what a payroll approaching $900,000 annually will do in Cameron in the next year.

Cameron welcomes Sunny Isle as a new partner in the growth cycle that is here.

We no longer must stammer and wish and hope: the cycle is here. We know there will be need for continuous application, but Sunny Isle is an assurance that years of effort have proven successful for the town and for a new partner in the growth pattern here, Sunny Isle Manufacturing Co.

From 'Was' To 'Is' . . .

The quickest way to stir controversy is to get something done.

"What was" is liked by enough who fear their plight if "what can be" becomes "what is." And those interested in "what can be" are uncertain enough to accept "what was".

And those seeking "what is" are sometime hesitant about the new and find, instead, "what was."

And so controversy rages.

4-H CLUB

By Ronald L. Bailey

Five Milam County 4-H'ers participated in the Houston Livestock Show Calf Scramble, held in the Astrodome during the World Championship Rodeo. They were: Walter Dean, Minerva; Terry Drummond, Rockdale; Mike Towery, Thorndale; Joseph Vaculin III and Clyde Jistel, St Anthony.

This scramble at Houston is the largest in the world. In each scramble event, 20 boys and ten calves are turned loose in the six-acre arena. The calves have to be caught, haltered and led across the finish line. Joseph and Clyde caught calves and they will receive $200 each to purchase a heifer. Terry, Mike and Walter gave the calves a work-out but the boys could not find the handle and the calves got away.

AUSTIN

Rural areas are surprising the experts on voter registration.

Preliminary figures submitted to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert show that the first 100 counties to report on their voters, all smaller counties, had a 63.5 percent gain over last year.

Estimates by tax collectors in the three largest counties - Harris, Dallas and Bexar - indicate gains of only 13.6, 31.7 and 18 percent.

Some of the increase in rural counties is due to the fact that voters over age 60 in rural areas and towns under 10,000 now must register to vote. Heretofore, they could vote without registering.

It is estimated that the number of qualified voters in Texas will exceed 4 million this year. Final figures will not be in until April 1, the date county reports are due.

SCHOOL COSTS RISING

Local school districts' share of the minimum foundation school program for next year will be $5,800,000 higher than the current level.

However, only 74 districts actually will have to pay a bigger share of teacher salaries, maintenance and operation costs of the schools, bus transportation and Texas Education Agency operating expenses. In fact, 157 will pay less.

Total estimated cost for the minimum foundation school program this year has grown to $739,112,195. Local fund assignment is $159,600,000.

State Board of Education approved a new economic index on which each local district's share is calculated, selected textbooks for 23 subjects and all grades, and endorsed a plan for spending $737,950 in federal funds to aid handicapped children. While the bulk of the money would be spent in larger school districts, Victoria, Huntsville, Mount Pleasant, San Angelo and Midland will obtain $8,400 each to effect special education plans for handicapped youngsters in rural and sparsely-settled areas.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING URGED

Need for improved vocational - technical education to train the unemployed for paying jobs is being spotlighted in Teras as never before.

Virtually all major candidates for governor are proposing this as one way to trim welfare rolls, raise more taxes, curb the danger of riots and reduce crime.

Both House and Senate committees are conducting hearings and studies on how best to expand training courses and improve techniques.

Gov. John Connally gave job training facilities a major boost by endorsing an application of the Lower Rio Grande Valley Development Council for a $9 million federal grant to build and operate a new technical institute at Harlingen Air Force Base.

Connally said he feels that most such training probably should be handled through the junior college system. But he described area problems as so urgent that waiting for development of a system was not feasible.

He said he will recommend to the next legislature an appropriate state agency to run the new institute permanently. Meanwhile, he recommended that Texas A&M University and James Connally Tech at Waco operate the Harlingen facilities.

Last year the legislature appropriated $5,200,000 to buy facilities and equipment at James Connally Air Force Base to launch the state's first program of this kind.

Funds from the Federal Manpower Development Training Act will finance 90 percent of the Harlingen facility's cost - at least until June 30, 1969.

BARRERA STATE SECRETARY

Roy Barrera, 41 year old San Antonio attorney, is John Hill's successor as secretary of state. Hill resigned last month to devote full time to his race for governor.

Gov. Connally named Barrera to the $24,000-a-year job. His duties include service as the governor's top liaison man and as the chief state election officer.

Barrera is a member of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, is a former chief prosecutor in the Bexar County district attorney' office and is ex-president of the board of trustees of Edgewood Independent School District.

COURTS SPEAK

Fining of 22 whites for staging a civil rights sit-in at Cafe Raven in Huntsville was affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals. Same court also upheld the death penalty conviction of Tommy R. Vessels for rape of a Gray County woman and ordered a new trial in a fatal stabbing case.

State Supreme Court ordered a Bexar County jury trial to determine whether a group of San Antonio stockholders in the Uvalde Rock Asphalt Company has the right to inspect the firm's books and records.

Third Court of Civil Appeals reversed an additional workmen's compensation award to a Comal County woman hurt on the job because her lawsuit petition appealing the Industrial Accident Board decision was filed one day late.

ATTY. GENERAL RULES

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held that county commissioners courts may not legally sell to private concerns for commercial purposes duplicate copies of magnetic tape containing names of registered voters.

However, Martin said that county tax assessor - collectors and their deputies can prepare on their own time and sell copies of the register voter list, providing the "moonlighting" does not interfere with regular duties.

In a separate opinion, Martin concluded that the State Liquor Control Board must turn down liquor license applications from persons who have not been Texas residents for the past three years.

GOV. PREPARES BUDGET

With a view toward that special legislative session just around the corner, Gov. Connally is putting final touches on his budget recommendations this year.

Connally still declines to be pinned down on the session date, but he volunteered one significant prediction: The new tax bill at this time appears to be shaping up in the $125 to $135 million range.

Legislative Budget Board previously gave tentative approval to spending for 1969 which would require some $122,800,000 in additional taxes. LBB general fund budget so far totals $468,500,000. Governor's will be higher.

INDUSTRY CONFERENCE SET

Major Industrialists will address the first Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion here on April 3.

Purpose of the conference is to explore ways to further build existing industry which annually accounts for 85 percent of all industrial growth in this state. Five panels will explore growth industries with a view to showing communities how to stimulate expansion.

Headline speakers include John D. Harper, president and chief executive officer of ALCOA and James J. Ling, chairman of the board and chief executive officer of LTV, Inc., Dallas.

OLD PHILOSOPHER

Dear editar:

Excusing maybe Viet Nam, riots, and teenagers, for every problem there's usually a solution, and it was with considerable interest I read about a solution for the garbage disposal problem in big cities in a newspaper somebody threw out of his car near this Johnson grass farm yesterday.

According to it, cities would no longer depend on men and trucks to pick up garbage, thus eliminating the inconvenience of flat tires and strikes and banging cans around in the early morning hours. Every house and apartment would be tied into a special garbage-disposal pipe. When garbage collects, you put it in a special plastic bag, drop it in, and it's automatically shot through the pipe and right on out of town to the garbage dump 15 or 20 miles away. The whole thing is simple, and I'll bet Gov. Rockefeller wishes it had been thought up sooner.

But cities shouldn't stop there. Take the automobile problem. Everybody knows the car, with its traffic jams and sheer mathematical impossibility of finding enough parking room, is making city life almost impossible. A man can now cross New York City faster on foot than he can by car, and what the gasoline fumes are doing is even worse.

As I understand it, the car was invented to eliminate the horse, but it hasn't worked out that way; it eliminates more people in one day than it does horses in a year. How many horses were killed in traffic accidents last year?

But cities shouldn't despair. Why don't they adapt this new pipeline garbage disposal idea to people? You wouldn't want to get the two systems mixed up, but why not build a separate pipeline for people and transport everybody by pneumatic tube?

Every morning, a wife could zip her husband up in a plastic bag, drop him in the chute, and 30 seconds later he'd pneumatically appear in his ofice. No traffic problems, no gasoline fumes, no congestion, no waiting on elevators, peace and quiet in the streets. At quitting time, he puts his plastic bag back on, crawls in the pipe, and is shot home immediately.

The system will work. All it'd take is a little special training of wives in remembering which pipeline to use every morning. Wouldn't want the garbage arriving in the office and the husbands at the dump, except in some special cases which I won't go into.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Right now, however, we would like for you to know that all your efforts were appreciated and very helpful.

TINY'S TINY TALE

THE LITTLE LAMB CALLED "MUTTONHEAD"
by R. Morrow

Once upon a time on a certain sheep ranch way up in the hills, there lived a little lamb called "Muttonhead". He was the whitest and fluffiest lamb that ever lived, but everyone thought he was also the dumbest. That's why they called him "Muttonhead".

He never did anything right. If the Shepherd, whose name was Tom, wanted the sheep to turn right, Muttonhead would turn left. If Tom wanted the sheep to graze in the fields, Muttonhead would run into the woods near the swamp and play hide-and-seek. When the sheep would bed down for the night, Muttonhead would stay awake until the others were fast asleep then at the top of his lungs he would go,

"Baa-aa, baa-aa, baa-aa."

And if that didn't wake all the other sheep, he would do it again,

"Baa-aa, baa-aa, baa-aa."

Then he would curl up under his fluffy, white woolen coat and fall fast asleep.

One day Tom was talking to Mr. Tuttle, the owner of the ranch, and said,

"Mr. Tuttle, I just don't know what to do about Muttonhead, he can't seem to do anything right. I scold him all the time and he never pays any attention to me."

"All right, Tom", Mr. Tuttle said, "the next time I go into town, I'll take Muttonhead and sell him."

So it was settled, Muttonhead would be sold.

When Muttonhead heard from the other lambs that he would be sold, he became very, very sad. He decided to turn over a new leaf and for a day or two, he did everything he was supposed to do. This made Tom very happy and he thought that maybe Muttonhead wouldn't have to be sold after all.

But it was very hard for Muttonhead to be good for very long because he just loved getting into mischief.

One morning, a few days later, Muttonhead felt very playful and he thought to himself,

"Maybe I'll just get into a little mischief today, then tomorrow I'll start being good again."

Then he started running and jumping and chasing his friends. The more he ran and jumped and chased, the more the others laughed and ran around in circles. Soon, the lambs were scattered all over the fields.

When Tom saw what had happened, he got very mad and started shouting orders, trying to round up the scattered sheep. He finally managed to get them all together, except Muttonhead. Muttonhead had run off to his favorite hiding place in the woods, down near the swamp that was full of quicksand.

In his hiding place, Muttonhead stayed very still because he knew that Tom would come looking for him.

Pretty soon, he heard a rustling in the tall cattails at the edge of the swamp. He quietly peeked his fluffy head over the fallen log he was hiding behind. He couldn't believe what he saw! There was Mr. Tuttle's little three year old boy, Jimmy, chasing a butterfly and heading straight for the swamp.

Muttonhead didn't know what to do. If he came out of his hiding place, surely Tom would catch him and take him to town to be sold. But if he didn't do something, Jimmy might run right into the swamp. He peeked out again and saw that Jimmy was getting very, very close to the edge of the water.

Muttonhead didn't think It over any longer. He crouched down low and in one great leap, jumped completely over the log. Then he ran as fast and as hard as he could right at Jimmy. He was running so fast that when he crashed into Jimmy, he just bounced off and kept right on going through the air. When he finally landed, he found himself out in the middle of the swamp in very deep water.

At that moment, Tom was pushing his way through the cattails and saw the whole thing. He ran over and picked up Jimmy who was very frightened and crying very hard. Then he stepped very carefully into the swamp and rescued a very wet and soggy Muttonhead, who was also very frightened and baa-ing as loud as he could.

Just then, Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle came running down to the swamp looking for Jimmy.

"Muttonhead is the bravest, smartest lamb I've ever seen. He just saved Jimmy from falling into the swamp." cried Tom.

"As a reward, we'll build him a fine little barn all his own," said Mr. Tuttle, "and he can run and jump and play all day long."

"And we'll never, ever call him Muttonhead again," said Mrs. Tuttle.

So now, on a certain sheep ranch way up in the hills, you'll find the happiest little lamb in the whole world. From sunrise to sunset, he just runs and jumps and plays, and every once in a while, he even gets into a little mischief.
